QUAKERS IN PURSUIT. | Description of the property of the prop

HAUL THE BOSTONS,

New York Beaten by Washington and Brooklyn Whitewashed at Boston-Philadelphia Wins Twice at Baltimore and St, Louis Beats Chicago Two Cames Cleveland Wins from Cincinnatt,

The baseball incidents of yesterday were of nature to produce feelings of pain and surprise in this neighborhood. First came the news that Ward's Wonders had been decorated with a large quantity of purest Boston hitewash, and this was quickly followed by the information that the New Yorks had hit the ball very hard at Washington, but that the Senators had hit very much harder and won three straight. News of that sort, coupled with the oppressive heat, is quite likely to increase the list of daily prestrations. There is one thing that arouses the cranks of the Fast, and that is the persistent way in which Harry Wright's boys are climbing upward, and the rapidity with which Uncle Anson is tobog-ganing to the bottom of the chute. Unless the Quakers get some hard knocks in the windup, they are a likely lot to make it interesting for Boston. Harry Wright's teams have always been noted for strong finishes, and their course from new out will be watched with in-terest. Yesterday's games resulted as follows:

Washington, Iuin 22.—Thirteen was a hoode for the New Yorks thils afterneon, for they stuck at that unlucky number until the Senators field and passed them, despite efforts to break the baneful effects of Arthur Irwin's conjuring rabbits foor. The pitchers were punished badly throughout the contest. Editane being taken out in the seventh after six runs had been olded un against him; while for the Senators. Abbey, Killen, and Knell alternated in the bex, and in the last three innings of the game Mediaire was substituted for Jack Milligan as a receiver.

Nip and tuck is the best description that can be given of the game, first one side spurting and then the other, to the unspeakable but tumultuous delight of the blenchers, who could not refrain from putting in their cars against "the empire." That worthy had a number of close decisions to make, but acquitted himself creditably because both sides kicked repeatedly to President Young in the grand stand.

What a picnic Buck Ewing and Paul Radford had with the pitchers, though. The captain of the visitors came out of the encounter with a homer un and a triple, the latter driving in three runners, while the lucky first striker of the Senators gobbied un a homer, a double, and two singles to fatten his batting average. During the progress of the game it was announced from the stand that the boss manager at St. Louis had downed Anson's colts twice, thus putting the local team in sixth place. This was an occusion for an outburst of enthusiasm before which a Convention tulletin from Chicago finded into utter insignificance. The score:

BOSTON, 6: BEOOKLYN, O.

BOSTON, 6; BROOKLYN, 0.

BOSTON, June 22.—The Beancaters took sweet revenge on Capt. Ward's hopefuls today, and atoned for yesterday's defeat by administering a thick coating of whitewash. Kid Nichols was Boston's stone wall against which the Brooklyns dashed wildly in their frantic efforts to secure another victory. But the young Napoleon outgeneralied them in every managure, and they were forced back with great shaughter. In the nine innings the every manœuvre, and they were forced back with great slaughter. In the nine innings the Brooklyn heavy hitters could make but three scattered hits, no two of them coming in the same laning. The other Boston players supported their pitcher in grand style, and neither of their errors was serious.

Mike Kelly shared the honors of the day with Nichols. He was once more the brilliant ball player as of yore, and in the fourth inning with Nichols. He was once more the brilliant ball player as of yore, and in the fourth inning he officiated in a double play that was of such a brilliant hue that the crowd rose en masse and choered him to the echo. Joyce had made a safe hit and was on first when Corcoran popped up a foul fly which dropped close to the Boston players' bench. Kelly was playing behind the bat, but he sprinted like a racehorse and caught the ball, that in itself being a most brilliant blay. Joyce waited until the ball lodged in Kelly's hands and then ran for second. Kelly banged against the pavillon, rebounded, turned quickly, and sent the ball straight as an arrow to Quinn, catching Joyce several feet from the base. Then the crowd stood up and yoiled its approval. So far as the Brooklyns were concerned the game was but a succession of disappointments. At no time did they see third base, to say nothing of the home plate. The score:

In order to perform this little feat, the undersigned asks that the following rules and conditions be observed:

First—That the Vamoose will not swerve in her course, so that a collision may be avoided. Second—That the race will be from a stake boat off Sandy Hook to a stake boat forty knots south, and back, along the coast, so that the people of Seabright, Monmouth, Long Branch, Asbury Park, Ocean Grove, Key East, Ocean Beach, &c., will be able to see the race. I do not propose to let the Vamoose people shake the Norwood off, even if it does take five weeks to repair the damages done to the former in New London by coming in contact with two docks, and the smashing of her quadruple engine on the Sound on her way to New York. I mean to prove that the quadruple engine is not to be compared with the triple expansion for speed, and that the Vamoose is even worse than the Nay When, which was a complete failure, and built on the same principle. Respectfully.

Yale Alarmed Over Her Baseba'l Team, New Haven, June 22 - When Rustin, the steady third paseman of the Yale team, left college a week ago, he eft a vacancy which cannot be properly filled. Capt. Murphy played the position, and placed llarver at short stop. This arrangement has proved unsatisfactory, as both men have made frequent errors, and Yale's infield play has been ismentably weak. As a last resort Capt. Nurphy has concluded to resume his old position at short stop, retiring Harvey and placing Keizle at third hase. Kedzie is a bard worker, but unsteady and a very weak hitter. THE GREAT THREE TEAR-OLD RUNS AN EAST MILE IN 1:40 9-8. Potomne Was a Contender for Three-quar ters of a Mile-Hyland Mysiffed-Extra Wine the Pancy Stakes-Kingston, Zorling, Belwood, and Prather Victorious-Bookmakers' Row in the Ring-News of Interest to Turfmen. Those who went to Sheepshead Bay yesterday afternoon saw Messrs. Gideon & Daly's superb three-year-old colt His Highness defeat Potomac, winner of the Futurity Stakes as a two-year-old and of the Realization Stakes as a three-year-old, King Crab, Lepanto, and Rex. at a mile, which was covered in the yery fast time of 1:40 2-5. His Highness was conceding weight to every horse in the race, but he won under a pull, and it was as plain as day to the veriest tyro that he could have beaten 1:40 had he been called upon to do so. His Highness won with such amazing case that those who saw his race in the Suburban on Saturday last were dumfounded. Trainer Hyland, who thought that his colt should have performed as well in the Suburban as be did yesterday, was disgusted:

"I can't explain it," he said, "and I'm very sore now that I see that my horse was as good as I thought he was. Why, he couldn't run a bit on Saturday, and to-day he could have marched a mile in 1:30." The whole race course rang with the praises of His Highness, was conceding Potomac a great lump of weight. Potomac, it must be remembered, was considered one of the best race horses in the country, and his owner, M. F. Dwyer, thought so well of him yesterday that e backed the white-faced colt to beat His Highness.

When the betting opened His Highness was a slight favorite over Potomac, but the money came into the ring on the three-year-old in such a volume that the bookmakers were and at post time 5 to 4 on was the best that could be had. When the flag fell Lepanto went away with a rush and piloted the field up the backstretch, Rex and His Highness second and third, and Potomac last under Garrison's stoutest pull. Potomac run un with the leaders, and as they swung for the turn Lepanto led by two lengths, with His Highness and Potomac on exactly even other. Turning into the homestretch His Highness with the utmost ease left Potomac and set sail for the lightweighted Lepanto. He quickly collared the Daly representative and, passing him, had things all his own way. Garrison rode Potomac hard for a hundred yards, but the big coll was evidently not quite screwed up for a hard race, and the public turned its attention to the leader. As soon as His Highness was in front Taral began to take him back, and little Lambley, going at Lepanto with the whip, the game four-year-oid closed on His Highness once more. Taral drew it fine and won by a short neck, but His Highness could have beaten his fleid half a dozen lengths. Potomac was pulled up and finished last, flex securing third place. His Highness was applauded as he trotted back to the scales, and the populace was ready once more to cry "Long live the king." What a race it would be with Tammany. St. Florian, Patron, Lamplighter, Lecchatchee, Victory, and terkville Belle as starters. This is the fractional time of yesterday's race: 24%, 37, 40%, 1302, 1:15-1:271-5, 1:402-5.

The Pansy Stakes for two-year-oids on the grass course brought out six candidates, including Mr. John Hunter's Lovelace, the winner of the Daisy Stakes on Monday, Lovelace was penalized five pounds for that victory, and the talent made lightaway, the Daly representative, favorite at 2 to 1, with Walcott & Camplell's Warsaw a strong second choice, Lovelace coming next in favor. Warsaw and the Majolica colt made the running until straightened out for home, where both were passed by Lovelace, Extra, and Rightaway. In a whipping linish Fred Little-field landed the Brookwood Stabie's Extra winner by a head. Rightaway was beaten three-quarters of a length for second money. The winner is a son of Superior and Tincture. Kingston was an odds on favorite for the open dash over the Futurity course, and the Snaper, keeping the brown horse in the front ranks all the way, won very handily by a neck. Three Trota Disposed of in Ten Heats at Franklin Park. Bosron, June 22.-For the second day of the circuit meeting at Franklin Park the trotters had full swing in the three classes and ten heats disposed of them. The track was still heavy, but two horses placed their records beduced hers to 2:23%. Denald, a grandson of George Wilkes, and Dora Thorne of Happy Medium blood are the newcomers to the list, the former, a black stallion, winning a very creditable race. Alice Wilkes was the choice for this, but the footing did not suit her and she would not keep level. Golden got in behind Dora Thorne after the second heat, but could do nothing with Donald when he rushed up in the last quarter.

Jesse Hanson was never headed in the 2:22 class, and it was 5 to 1 on him from the start. The 2:25 class was quickly over, though the indges made a change of drivers, putting O'Neil behind Classmate in the last heat. The gelding had a good lead over Gretchen in the second heat, but she closed the gap and beat him nearly a length. There were vigorous protests against taking Johnson out, and classmate was unsteady in the third mile, finishing last. duced hers to 2:23%. Donald, a grandson of

When the coach horses were all disposed of a four-in-hand yellow-wheeled drag, built by Shanks of Bond street, London, was pulled into the ring. It was owned by C. H. Joy of Boston.

"This is a thing every gentleman who can afford it should have," said the auctioneer. The fact that it was built in London was supposed to enhance its value.

The bidding started at $500land slowly rose to $1,000, where it stuck. It was knocked down to William H. Gray at that price. The original cost of the drag was $2,400. Mr. Gray also paid $200 and $1,75 for two sets of four-in-hand road harness, made by G. Wright of London. F. J.
